MESSAGE FROM THE PREMIER

Everyone knows a parade or celebration needs a brass band to make it truly grand. This year, Victoria is celebrating its 150th Anniversary Year and the Victorian Bands' League has arranged to gather 77 for the occasion!

Melbourne is pleased to host the 1985 National Band Championships and welcomes the added enjoyment it will give to all those joining in the festivities of our anniversary year.

I understand competition is always keen at these events. Whatever the results, I hope the high standard of band music set in past years makes for a very successful Championship.

On behalf of all Victorians, I warmly welcome participants to our State. I hope that during your stay you are able to enjoy some of the many pleasures Victoria has to offer.

JOHN CAIN
Premier

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF VICTORIA'S 150th ANNIVERSARY

Victoria's 150th Anniversary is one of the most exciting years in our history. Several thousand activities right across Victoria form part of the official 150th program of events. The Boosey & Hawkes Australian National Band Championships are one of the major events on this program and will certainly give an extra dimension to the usual Easter festivities.

On behalf of Victoria's 150th Anniversary Board, I would like to welcome to Victoria all visitors and competitors in the Championships during our State's celebrations.

As well as the Championships there will be other 150th activities occurring in the Metropolitan and Rural Victoria and I hope that you may be able to find the time to join in. All in all, there has never been a better time than 1985 to visit Victoria and I hope that the Championships are enjoyable and successful.

Ranald Macdonald
Chairman
Victoria's 150th Anniversary Board

President National Band Council

Each year the National Band Championships have a special significance in Australian Banding. Each state has its own yearly championships and welcomes competing bands from other states, but the Nationals are the big ones and all states look forward to their turn to conduct a National.

At the N.B.C. meeting when the venue for 1985 was discussed, with their usual foresight and tremendous enthusiasm, your N.B.C. Delegate and V.B.L. Secretary left no doubt in the minds of the Council that the Nationals belonged to Victoria in '85.

This was the first part in the score for the Boosey & Hawkes Australian National Championships of 1985, and now with over two years of planning and preparation many more parts have been added with very tuneful harmony coming from Chairman Macdonald, Victoria's 150th Anniversary Board and the Boosey & Hawkes company.

The score is complete, the music is ready to be presented, and in a world of rapidly changing musical moods and patterns, it is refreshing to know that Banding has endured and that at these Championships, we will all have the opportunity to enjoy the continuing development of this truly community based art form. Music that is equally at home in the local parks or the concert halls of the world.

I extend my best wishes for the success of the Championships and to all Victorians for their 150th Anniversary celebrations.

Mr. R.K. (Keith) Golding

Message from the President of the Victorian Bands League Inc. Mr. Wilfrid E. Dyason.

The Victorian Bands League Inc. is proud to welcome you to Melbourne to participate in the 1985 Boosey & Hawkes Australian National Band and Solo Championships. We Victorians are quite excited about the record entries in both Band and Solo Sections and hope that you will also join with us in this tremendous medium for the celebration of our State's 150th Birthday.

In all a total of no less than 126 Bands and their Soloists are represented at the contest, thus giving our hard working Contest Committee Members a real challenge in organisation.

The generous financial support given by our major sponsor, Boosey & Hawkes, together with that of the Victorian 150th Committee and the Ministry For The Arts has virtually guaranteed the unprecedented success of the contest.

The Victorian Bands League Inc trusts that bandpersons and supporters alike will be able to look back on this event as a most enjoyable and rewarding weekend and that the untiring efforts of the members of our Contest Committee will receive your approval.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

It is with great pleasure that I welcome bands from all over Australia to the 1985 Australian National Band Championships. The next four days will be an exciting musical event for our city.

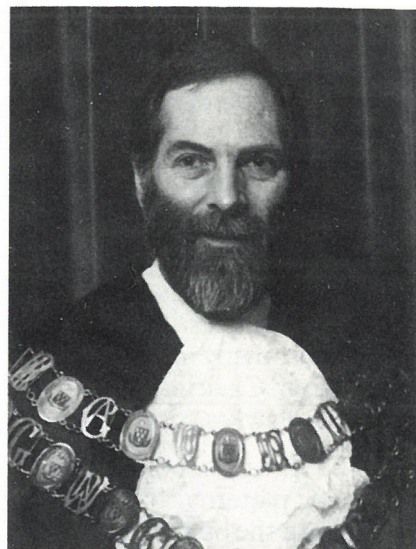

Apart from the Gala Concert in the Melbourne Concert Hall, most of the competition will be held in Kew. This is particularly appropriate as 1985 is Kew's 125th anniversary and band concerts in the Alexandra Gardens were a very popular entertainment in our city's past. We hope our visitors will have time for a relaxing stroll in the gardens, situated behind the Civic Centre.

The people of Kew are very proud of their Citizens' Band and the high standard it has achieved. The recently highly successful tour of the U.S.A. is evidence of their ability and initiative. The band has continued and strengthened Kew's tradition of music, which includes our children. The East Kew Primary School Concert Band is a talented and hard-working group and the Music Centre situated at the school provides a permanent venue for local musicians to practice.

Band music is always associated with public occasions, parades and festivals. For many people it brings back memories of childhood and Christmas; it is community music, people's music. I am sure that all the time and energy that the musicians and organizers have devoted to preparation for the Championships will be richly rewarded.

The City of Kew wishes you success in your events, and hopes that during the Championships you will renew old friendships and make new ones.

Robin Saunders, J.P.
Mayor of Kew.

MESSAGE FROM RICHARD D. MACKIE MANAGING DIRECTOR, Boosey & Hawkes (Australia) Pty. Ltd.

The 1985 Australian National Band Championships is an event we have eagerly looked forward to, particularly as it is one of the official functions to be held during the Victorian 150th Anniversary Year.

Bandings future is dependent on a high level of participation and the highest standards of performance. Each year achievements in these areas become more evident. There is increasing awareness from the public that the Nationals not only meet the needs of the competitive spirit amongst bands, but also satisfies the listening public's interest in excellent performance and entertainment.

We offer our wholehearted thanks to all the bands for attending and look forward to them giving their best performance during this prestigious and memorable event in Melbourne.

A BRIEF HISTORICAL EXTRACT OF AUSTRALIAN BANDS WITH PARTICULAR REFERENCE TO THE HOST STATE OF VICTORIA

FROM, BANDS IN AUSTRALIA, By Peter Walmsley. LTCL. A. Mus. A.

Bands of some description or other have existed since the first fleet sailed into Botany Bay. Naturally these first combinations of wind and percussion instruments were the Military Bands of the regiments sent to N.S.W. As well as their normal function of martial music for the troops they provided entertainment for the populace and also accompanied the singing at church services. The first original Australian band music was dance music of the time composed by an Army Bandmaster. In 1825 Mr. Reichberg, music master to the 40th regiment composed a set of Australian Quadrilles for sale at six shillings, but a days notice was required to give time to copy its manuscript. Bandmasters were also the colony's first music teachers, teaching a large variety of instruments at high fees.

The recorded history of the numerous bands that have been formed since that time has been very erratic, but the St Joseph's band of Launceston in Tasmania claims to be the oldest band still in existence (founded in 1845). The Parramatta band has records which show that they led a procession in 1843, however the band has had a number of name changes (Parramatta Lancers, Parramatta Citizens and since 1952 the Parramatta City Band).

Portland Citizens Band in Victoria has the oldest established beginnings in this State, the history of the early days of this band is covered elsewhere in the book.

In such a vast and widely populated country as Australia it is impossible to give adequate space to the development of our community bands. This particular contest sees a fine representation of bands that have grown from humble beginnings. Mention must be given to the first competitions that preceded these years National Championships. The first National contest was held in Sydney in November 1896 with bands from N.S.W., Queensland and Tasmania competing. Victoria followed in 1897 with bands from N.S.W., Queensland and New Zealand. All States had their own competitions but the band contest that was the main event from 1900 was the Royal South Street competition at Ballarat. This contest gained world wide prominence and attracted entries from far North Queensland, Tasmania in the South and Western Australia, as well as from New Zealand. Entries in the solo competitions were huge and the competition became regarded as the "mecca" of bandsmen. Renowned Adjudicators were brought from not only Australia, but New Zealand and Great Britain as well. In 1902 Mr. Jas Ord Hume, then recognised as Englands leading Composer, Arranger, Band Trainer and Adjudicator, stated that the competition was "the greatest in the world". Ballarat introduced many fine soloists, bands and conductors to the world music scene, some of whom rose to international fame were Percy Code, Frank Wright (a native of the City) and Ken Smith from New Zealand.

Moving from contesting the single event that was regarded as an inspiration to a high standard of playing was the visit in 1907 of the famous Besses O'The Barn band from England for a concert tour of Australia. This wonderful band played to huge audiences throughout Australia and also on a second successful trip in 1910-11. The high standard of this group inspired many Australian bandmasters and players and resulted in a general lifting of the musical and technical standards throughout the country. Two of the bands top soloists, W.M. (Bill) Ryder (cornet) and E.P. (Ernie) Kerry (euphonium) settled in Australia and made significant contributions as players, teachers and band trainers. Percy Code was invited to tour with the band back to England as principal cornet and his brilliant playing was most favourably commented on. Percy went on to play professional trumpet in America as co-principal to the virtuoso Harry Glantz in the Philadelphia Orchestra. Percy was the son of the late E.T. Code, an extremely successful band conductor, who began his career in 1888 in Bendigo and then moved to Melbourne where he formed Code's Melbourne Brass Band. The years 1898-99 and 1900 were memorable for his brilliant achievements, and his band was, to quote an article of the time, "well nigh invincible". His son Percy won many prestigious championships and after returning from abroad became one of the first A.B.C. orchestral conductors. He is of course still immortalised by his many solos such as Zelda and Zanette which are still popular with performers of today. Percy's brother Stan was an accomplished trombonist who played in all the major theatres in Melbourne and for 29 years was principal trombonist with the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra, retiring at the grand age of 75.

Victoria has had the distinction of producing some of the finest bands, soloists and conductors in the history of banding. To touch briefly on some of the more memorable, the band of St Augustines Geelong, first formed in 1886, firmly established themselves as a first class combination with early success from 1902 in band and individual events. J. Ord Hume declared the St Augustines band to be "the best boys band in the world". Individuals emanating from this renowned group were Percy Jones, (cornet and later conductor), Harry Larsen (euphonium and trombone-principal trombone Sydney Symphony Orchestra and professor at the N.S.W. Conservatorium of Music), Alf Cerezo, (baritone), Les Hoffman (cornet and conductor) and Jack Grumley (baritone and band trainer). St Augustines was not the only famous band from Geelong. Harry Shugg was bandmaster of the Geelong Harbour Trust band which enjoyed success. Mr Shugg was of course responsible for much of the fame of the Malvern Tramways band. However the first bandmasters of this fine group from 1911 to 1915 were W.M. Ryder and Robert H. McAnally. From 1915 to 1947 Mr Shugg made Malvern a household name throughout the band world and certainly no other band in the southern hemisphere was as famous as the "Malvern Tramies". Many major Australian contests were won by this combination as well as the New Zealand Championships in 1925. Following a downturn after World War II the band again came to prominence under the leadership of W.J. (Billie) Philpott who rebuilt the band gradually from 1949 to a very successful period from 1955 to 1959. His son Harry carried on after his retirement in 1959 and continued the successful contesting record established by his father, until 1970. Mr Wilf Dyason, from Blue Mountains, was appointed bandmaster from 1970 to 1979 and Malvern continued to be a major contesting band. The past few years have been a period of re-building for this famous group.

To digress from bands themselves there is much interest in the administration of bands in Victoria. For many years the Ballarat based Victorian Bands Association, formed in 1901, administered the associated affairs of all Victorian Bands. A group called the Melbourne and Metropolitan Band Association existed until 1921, others to function were the Melbourne Bandsmen's Club, Melbourne Amateur Bandsman's Association and the Eastern Amateur Band Society. To delve into the events that led to the formation of the Victorian Bands League requires more space than is available here but suffice to say that Mr. H.J. (Horrie) Sullivan was instrumental in founding the League on 10th April 1931, at a meeting held in the Melbourne Town Hall. This was not the end of turbulence in the administrative affairs of the V.B.L. but it has remained intact since that time, running a most active banding State and being the first State to appoint a full-time Secretary — Mr. Bert Bowden, in 1980.

A person who is regarded by many as the finest band trainer in Australia was Frank (Massa) Johnston. Born in Melbourne in 1880 he played Euphonium with Collingwood Citizens Band and won Ballarat three times on this instrument, but, it is as a band conductor that he is best remembered. He was appointed bandmaster to Collingwood band in 1912 and continued in that role until his death in 1953. He was also conductor of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, Victorian Police, Kingsville Yarraville, St Kilda and Hyde Street State School Band. This last band won 19 successive contests out of 19 in as many years under Massa, which surely must be a record. He also coached bands in the country areas of Victoria and Ipswich and Maryborough in Queensland. However the band that many regard today as having been the best in Australia was the Fire Brigade Band. Their successes were numerous and often devastating, their performance of Henry Geehl's "Oliver Cromwell" is legendary. As a marching band they were never defeated under Drum Major Robert (Bob) Llewellyn and often played W. Rimmer's "Ravenswood". The band was disbanded in 1950 and was reformed in 1965 and continued to 1970 under Mervyn Simpson and again the band was a leader in Australian contesting, winning the National in 1968 and 1970.

Mervyn Simpson has contributed enormously to the band movement of Victoria. He played under Shugg in Malvern, 1932-45, Philpott 1945-52, conducted the Stawell band, 1940-42, played professionally in dance bands from 1935 and was appointed principal trumpet of the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra in 1945 to his retirement in 1977. He was a member of the Victorian Trumpet Trio with George Dobson and Stan Roberts, which made many recordings. Mervyn took over the Footscray Yarraville City band when the Fire Brigade band was disbanded and took this band to the top of the ladder from 1972-75 culminating in an overseas tour and winning an international contest in Toronto, Canada.

Footscray Yarraville City band is an amalgamation of the former Footscray City and Kingsville Yarraville bands who merged in 1961. The Kingsville Yarraville band was formed in 1908 and first won recognition as a force in the band world in the mid thirties when it was under the dual leadership of Len Skene as Bandmaster and Massa Johnston as coach. Tom Campbell kept the band at a high standard from 1934. Alex Henderson next had the band for a brief 18 months followed by Peter Walmsley for an even shorter period. Next was Phil Thorn who led the band from 1965-71. The next period under Mervyn Simpson was covered earlier, the band was then led for a short time by John Hawker and then by Doug Trottmann, a virtuoso tenor horn player with an outstanding record of wins in Australia, Doug commenced his banding in the Hyde Street School band. Doug is currently conductor of Kew Citizens and led them on a tour of New Zealand, Hawaii and the West Coast of America in 1984. Footscray Yarraville also toured overseas in 1978 and 1984.

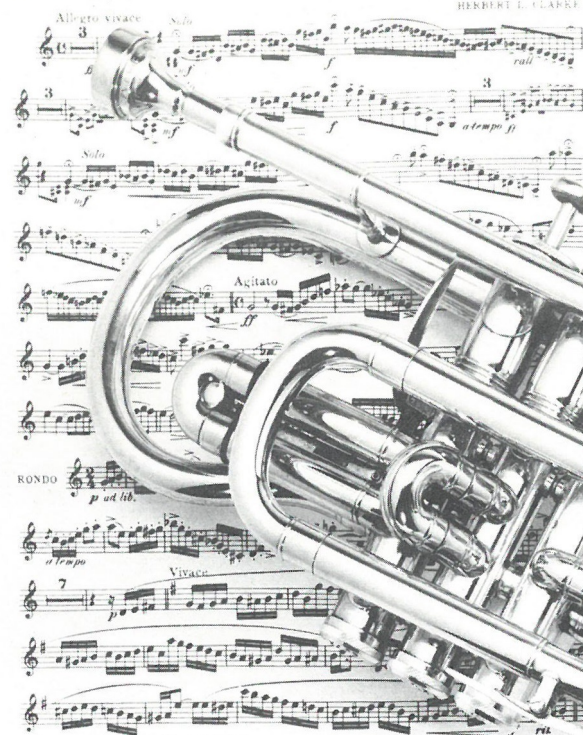

Currently Victoria's leading "A" Grade band is the Hawthorn City band, first formed in 1883 and then after various liaisons was reformed permanently in 1900. The band has had a number of famous conductors including John Booth-Gore, Alfred Paxton, Les Hoffman, Norman Uren, Ken Smith, Laurie Hicks and currently Peter Jackson. Hawthorn won it's first "A" grade contest in 1934 and was particularly successful under Sq. Ldr. Hicks from 1972-82, winning five National titles. The band was invited to compete in the British Open Championships at Belle-Vue, Manchester, in 1982 and acquitted itself extremely well.

Another leading Melbourne band has been Preston Municipal under W.S. May, Charles Smith, Arthur Withers and now being led by Alex Ferguson.

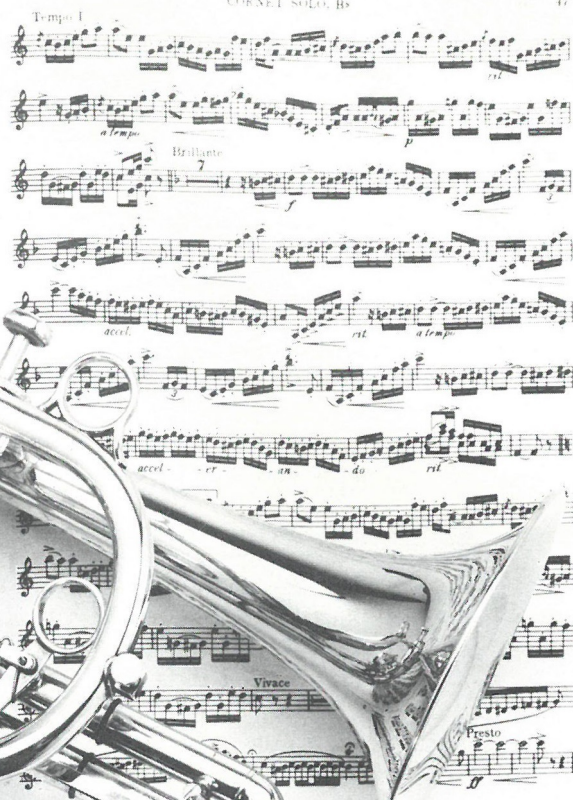

Throughout the years many fine bands and players have contributed to keep Victoria a strong banding community. In the country, Ballarat has maintained a top band from the days of Prout's Ballarat Brass. Maryborough Citizens under Jack Harris, Thompsons Foundry, (Castlemaine), founded 1885, the bands of the Bendigo area, Eaglehawk Citizens, Bendigo Citizens, Golden Square, Marist Brothers and latterly Strathfieldsaye Municipal, to the north with Mildura or south with Casterton Vice Regal, Hamilton Citizens, Port Fairy, to name but a few. Also the many brilliant soloists that have come forth such as Mervyn Preusker, Wayne Bowden, Doug Trottmann, Arthur Withers, Robin Bourne, Ted Ellis, Claude Scanlon, Clarrie Collins, Rodney Lowe, Alan Ball, Paul Plunkett, Bruce Lamont, Robert Sims, Vin Fryer, Don Lock, the list could go on and on.

The conclusion of this very incomplete history is that from very humble beginnings the band world is alive and well in Australia, particularly in Victoria where this years National Championships are being conducted.

BOOSEY & HAWKES, FIFTY YEARS IN AUSTRALIA

by Geoff Auty, Director, Boosey & Hawkes Australia

The Boosey & Hawkes history goes back to the mid eighteenth century when Thomas Boosey founded his book and music publishing business. Musical instruments manufacture followed early in the eighteen hundreds. Hawkes and Riviere started instrument making in 1865 and Besson & Company in France in 1837 then in England in 1851.

All three firms were strong supporters of Band Contests and Championships in the United Kingdom in many venues including The Crystal Palace, Belle Vue and The Royal Albert Hall. This continued after Boosey and Company and Hawkes and Sons came together between 1930 and 1932, then Besson joined the group in 1946. In recent years Boosey & Hawkes has been asked to manage band contesting in the United Kingdom and has formed Boosey & Hawkes Band Festivals Limited to undertake this operation, as well as area contests and the Albert Hall Finals, the Company has launched the European Band Championships.

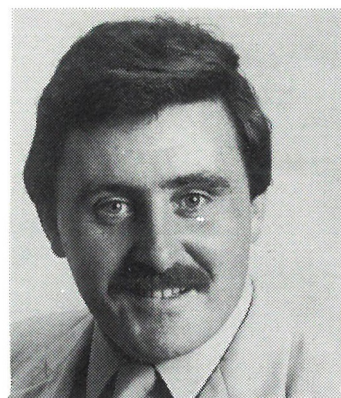

The history in Australia goes back to the last century when support for band contests was mainly provided through local Agents and Dealers. In 1934 the Australian branch of Boosey & Hawkes was established in Sydney and a separate Besson office was started in Melbourne in 1958. 1984 was celebrated as the Boosey & Hawkes 50th Anniversary in Australia. From 1934 on as the Boosey & Hawkes group gave support to state and other championships either direct, or through their local state Dealers, the Boosey & Hawkes and Dealer displays became a normal part of the contest scene in Australia. One outstanding award was the very elegant New South Wales State Shield, donated by the Company before World War II.

The present chapter started at Christchurch, New Zealand, in 1980 when Boosey & Hawkes Limited was asked to become the main sponsor of the New Zealand Centenary Contest. This very successful event was a joint venture shared between Boosey & Hawkes London and the Sydney Company. As a result of this success the Australian Company was asked to become the major sponsor of the 1982 Nationals in Townsville, 1983 at Willoughby followed and the first ever held in Canberra in 1984. Now Boosey & Hawkes has the privilege of being associated with the Victorian Bands League and the Victoria 150th Anniversary Committee together with the National Band Council as the major sponsor of the 1985 Nationals.

Support at the State level, both for contests and band workshops continues and many events are already planned for the next two years. 1985 sees the first of the upgraded awards "For Musical Excellence" to be presented at the New Defence Force School of Music. Boosey & Hawkes is happy to be associated with Australian Bands (Brass, Concert and Military) in the National, State and Local areas.

... about the author GEOFFREY AUTY
by Patrick T. Reilly, Marketing Manager,
Boosey & Hawkes (Australia) Pty. Limited.

Geoff Auty joined Boosey & Hawkes (Australia) in 1962 following the absorption by Boosey & Hawkes of Besson Australia. He had previously been Manager of Boosey & Hawkes (U.K.'s) Aldershot branch and had also spent time in the USA and Canada.

In his many years with Boosey & Hawkes, Geoff has accumulated an impressive knowledge of bands and bandsmen. I have been lucky in my time with Boosey & Hawkes to have had the benefit of Geoff's guidance with his knowledge.

I make this honorary acknowledgement of Geoff Auty's service to the Band movement as 1986 sees Geoff retire from Boosey & Hawkes after 40 years service. I am sure the Australian Brass and Concert Movement join me in acknowledging Geoff's contribution to our Banding history. It is befitting that this tribute take place in Melbourne Victoria where Geoff commenced his Australian service for Boosey & Hawkes (Australia).

PORTLAND BANDS

The first band to be formed in the infant township of Portland Bay, as it was then known, was a drum and fife band which was called together by Henry Huntley (a whaling headsman) and William McDowell, a young merchant who had a warehouse near the present band rooms.

The object of the project was to bring together young men who had church connections, or who had been brought up as members of the various denominations in their former home countries, there being no officially established churches at the time (1842) in Portland.

So it might be truly said that the first organised activities of the evangelical churches were centred in this young mans' fife band! Between this report in the very earliest Portland press (founded 20 August, 1842), and the first official public Brass Band established in Portland in 1859, there are numerous mentions of private ventures; and even an advertisement which ran for some time, informing the inhabitants that "Mr Cambray was ready and willing to instruct young men in the art of music as practiced on any brass and wind instruments, as well as drums . . ."

Hence, when the Volunteer Rifle Corps was authorised to recruit members for a Brass Band, there was one already to hand, which the Corps hired and payed for services rendered. As well as their duties to the military, the bandsmen played twice a week in the Botanical Gardens.

In 1868 Mr George Jarrett took charge of this band, and built it into a truly professional unit, winning many contests in various towns of Victoria, and in Melbourne.

The Portland Town Band was formed 26 July, 1888; and this band lasted until the outbreak of World War I, 1914, when it lost most of its members to the forces; but was reformed in 1917, playing for the first time on February 5, in Bentinck Street.

One of the highlights of Band history in Portland was the erection of the band rotunda on the foreshore reserve in 1897, on the occasion of the 60th anniversary of Queen Victoria's reign.

The first, but lesser rotunda, was built in the Botanical Gardens in the late 1860's, at the behest, or command, of Bandmaster George Jarrett.

ST JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE:

The St John Ambulance Brigade is proud to be of service to the Victorian Bands League and the many bands gathered from around Australia for these National Championships, we trust that you have a very successful Championship gathering. We have long realised that bandspersons in Australia give so much of their time and money in a voluntary role to provide a musical service to the community.

In this scene St John is very similar, our members also provide a voluntary service providing their own uniforms and supplies and raise money for the purchase of mobile first aid units, life saving equipment and training aids.

Service in St John Ambulance Brigade requires a high degree of dedication to the service of mankind.

JOINING THE BRIGADE:

Adults of good repute and physical fitness may, on qualifying for the adult first aid certificate, join as members — age range is 18 to 60 years.

Cadets — boys and girls who are physically fit may join on qualifying for their preliminary first aid certificate — age range is 11 to 17 years.

Junior Cadets can join at 8 to 10 years. You see our members in their familiar Black and White uniforms at various venues enjoying the music but ever ready to be of service to any who require medical assistance. Training in the Brigade is by qualified instructors, many of whom are professional ambulance officers, State Registered Nurses and Doctors.

On an historical note the first aider has been working side by side with members of the medical profession for centuries. The order of St John, its full name being “Most Venerable Order of the Hospital of St John of Jerusalem”, is an ancient order. Generally accepted as developing from a pilgrims hospital established in Jerusalem in the year A.D. 600.

The work undertaken by members has survived 9 centuries of battles, throughout the world, and so this great movement, by its own courage and resilience, is recognised today as an order of chivalry, with Her Royal Highness Queen Elizabeth II, as the sovereign head of the order of St John in the British realm.

For many years we have existed on the unselfish generosity of our own members. The demands on our service to the public are ever increasing and our members now have difficulty in keeping up their stores, not only medical, but also vital life saving equipment and training aids. Our vehicles which are only used as mobile first aid posts, and do not transport patients, are a vital part of our work but are now becoming most expensive to purchase and maintain.

BERT BOWDEN: Contest Organiser:

Bert Bowden who has been Secretary of the Victorian Bands League since February 1974 sees his second Australian National Band Championship contest come to fruition.

Bert commenced his banding interest at 10 years of age with the Salvation Army at Horsham. After a short period of service in the Air Force during World War II and some diversified sporting activities he joined the Hamilton City Band and then moved to Warracknabeal where his interest in band administration germinated. He moved to Melbourne in 1965 and joined Brighton Municipal Band on Baritone and then moved to BBb Bass. During his time with Brighton he held the position of Secretary and also took on the responsibilities of Secretary of the Bayside Bands Group where he gained some very valuable organisational experience. Before being appointed to the position of V.B.L. Secretary Bert was a Delegate for 5 years and had a short term on the Executive Council as Vice President. After 6 years as part time Secretary of the V.B.L. Bert was appointed to the position as a full time officer at the commencement of 1980.
