BOOSEY & HAWKES

the musician's choice

At Boosey & Hawkes we believe that there is only one way to maintain our reputation for the excellence of our brass, woodwind and stringed instruments and that is to allow no compromise in the matter of quality.

For this reason we continually strive for product improvements and the development of new models in consultation with the best musicians available.

In all our factories we strike a careful balance between respect for the traditional craft skills of instrument making and the best of modern manufacturing technology.

Only in this way can we achieve a level of quality which ensures that our instruments are the popular choice of musicians, from students to professionals, all over the world.

MESSAGE FROM THE LORD MAYOR

It is a great pleasure to extend a warm welcome to the competitors and supporters visiting Newcastle for the 1997 National Band Championships.

1997 is our City's Bicentenary Year and I am delighted that Newcastle has been selected as the venue for these prestigious Championships.

Newcastle has a wonderful cultural heritage and news of this competition has been enthusiastically received by all spheres of the community.

Our Central Business District has undergone a revitalisation and is close to many of our outstanding tourist attractions. In particular, beautiful beaches, Christ Church Cathedral, Harbour Foreshore Park, Regional Art Gallery and Museum. I hope that you will take time to see some of the features of our City during your stay.

I trust that the 1997 National Band Championships will provide you with keen competition enjoyed in an atmosphere of friendship and goodwill.

On behalf of the Councillors and the citizens of Newcastle I thank you for coming to Newcastle and joining us in our Bicentenary celebrations.

We wish you a happy and memorable stay in Newcastle.

Greg Heys
LORD MAYOR

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRPERSON

It is my pleasure, on behalf of the Board of Directors, to extend a warm welcome to you, the musicians, your families and friends and your supporting committees. I trust that your presence in Newcastle will be rewarding in competition and satisfying in its renewal of old friendships and the establishment of new ones.

The Australian National Concert and Brass Band Championships are a Major event of this Bicentenary Year which celebrates the two hundredth year of settlement of Newcastle. Our Logo depicts the rocky outcrop of Nobbys, a unique landmark, which identifies the entrance to Newcastle Harbour. It is your souvenir badge by which to remember Newcastle.

It is particularly pleasing that all States of Australia are represented and that the Champion A Grade Brass Band of 1996. Fosters Auckland Brass, from New Zealand has returned to defend its title.

The A Grade Brass Test has been commissioned to recognise the significance of the Bicentenary. Each of its seven movements depicts a unique historical theme relative to the Region. I am delighted that Barry McKimm, its composer, will be present to hear its performance.

I wish to acknowledge with thanks the financial support provided by the Bicentenary Events Corporation. As our major sponsor, it has enabled us to secure excellent venues for competing Bands and Soloists, as well as present the major entertainment event, the Gala Concert, in the premier Newcastle venue - the Civic Theatre.

The Gala Concert is also supported by Toronto Bus Services, to which my thanks are also directed.

To our Adjudicators, I bid you welcome and trust that the conditions provided for you will be conducive to your critical appraisal of the music presented. I thank our Accompanists, and I am sure that each, in accompaniment, will assist in enhancing the performance of the Soloists.

To all officials and volunteers, may I direct my thanks for your generous provision of time and expertise, essential ingredients in ensuring the success of the Championships.

Our Parade of Bands will add colour and spectacle to the streets of Newcastle. The Massed Band Opening Ceremony in front of the City Hall will be a fitting climax to this spectacle.

I am confident that Easter 1997 will be memorable for Newcastle in its hosting of a successful Australian National Band Championships.

WELCOME TO THE 1997 BICENTENARY OF NEWCASTLE AND THE HUNTER

In addition to many thousands of years of indigenous habitation, this year marks the passing of two hundred years since the European sighting of the Hunter River and coal, leading to the modern development of Newcastle and the Hunter Region.

A program of events and projects already coming to fruition, and many more to come over the next seven months. The Bicentenary has given the city an opportunity to put its best foot forward, to host and stage events of significance on not only a local level, but in a national and international context.

The 1997 National Brass and Concert Band Championships is certainly viewed as an integral part of the Bicentenary community events program, and a key attraction in the city over the Easter holiday period. On behalf of the 1997 Bicentenary Events Corporation, I welcome all participants to the Hunter, and am sure that you will enjoy a great event at the various venues in Newcastle and surrounds.

I hope that on seeing the wonderful natural attractions of the region, combined with the many cultural and sporting events being staged for the Bicentenary, you will return to the city with your family and friends to further enjoy our Bicentenary celebrations.

Of course support of events such as the 1997 National Brass and Concert Band Championships would not be possible without the support of the principal sponsor of the Bicentenary, Prime Television. Prime's outstanding contribution has allowed for greater development at all levels of the Bicentenary, including the support of close to 100 community groups throughout the year.

To all participants, congratulations on your achievement and I hope you have a wonderful visit to our city.

1997 NATIONAL BRASS AND CONCERT BAND CHAMPIONSHIP ANNOUNCEMENT

- Since the idea of putting a program of events in place to celebrate the Bicentenary was first touted, the Hunter Regional Band Association has been working toward this event, first contacting the Bicentenary Director over two years ago to begin to work together on the Championships. The event is an integral feature of the 1997 Bicentenary community events program, with the Bicentenary Events Corporation recognising the event's importance by supporting the event to the tune of $15,000.
- The support of the Bicentenary events by the principal sponsor, Prime Television, has allowed for the greater development of the Bicentenary program at all levels, including the support of close to 100 community groups such as the Hunter Regional Band Association.

Ross Heinze
President of the National Band Council

It is with pleasure that I welcome participants from all over Australia and New Zealand to the 1997 National Band Championships being held at Newcastle.

To the Band Members, Musical Directors, Drum Majors taking part in the Band events and the Soloists competing in their sections I extend the appreciation of the National Band Council for their dedication and commitment in preparing for these Championships and keeping the Banding movement alive and progressive in their locality.

I also extend thanks and appreciation of the National Band Council to the Organising Board of Directors for their dedication and commitment in organising these Championships who together with their dedicated group of helpers will ensure a very successful National Championships.

To all the sponsors a special thank you for your assistance in making it possible to stage this the major event on the Band Movement Calendar in Australia.

I am confident that competitors, supporters and all those attending these Championships will be assured a most enjoyable and rewarding weekend of music and marching.

Thank you for being part of these National Band Championships in Newcastle and for your continued support to Brass and Concert Bands and their activities.

Ross A. Heinze, President, National Band Council of Australia.

Jan Cober

Jan Cober
The Netherlands

Jan Cober is one of The Netherlands foremost clarinettists and conductors.

He studied the clarinet and conducting at the Maastricht Conservatory in The Netherlands.

He continued his studies under the tutelage of Dutch musicians Willem van Otterloo and Ferdinand Leitner.

Cober then taught clarinet at the Dutch Conservatories of Maastricht, Utrecht and Tilburg.

In 1972, he was appointed to the position of principal clarinet with the Radio Philharmonic in The Netherlands, and in 1977 he attained the same position with The Hague Philharmonic.

Solo appearances and chamber music complement his orchestral and conducting activities.

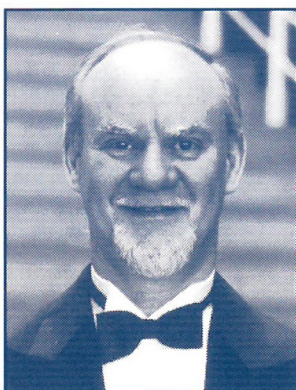

Jan Cober appears regularly as a guest conductor with the Dutch Radio and Television orchestra.

His international reputation has spread with appearances in concerts and festivals in Boston, New York, Texas, Germany, France, Spain, Portugal, Austria and Australia.

He has made several recordings and CDs with band and orchestral music.

Jan Cober has visited Australia on a number of occasions and will act as one of two international adjudicators at the 1997 National Band Championships in Newcastle from Friday, March 28 to Monday, March 31.

Bengt Eklund

Bengt Eklund
Sweden

Bengt Eklund, of Sweden, is a trumpeter of unique international acclaim, with a reputation for performance and teaching.

In 1970, he founded the Bengt Eklund's Baroque Ensemble, which plays replicas of baroque trumpets and trombones. The ensemble's latest recording, "Courtly Trumpet Ensemble Music" is a worldwide best seller.

In 1983, he formed the Goteborg Brass Band, which went on to become World Champion Brass Band in 1988.

His reputation as one of Sweden's finest brass teachers began when he was appointed Professor of trumpet and brass at the School of Music, University of Goteborg.

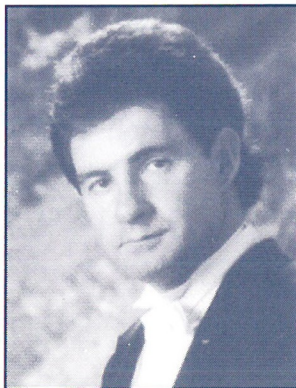

From 1989 to 1993, Bengt Eklund was also Director of Studies of the Department of Performance at the University of Goteborg with a special interest in exchange students and teachers from around the world.

In 1992, he was appointed Professor of Trumpet at the Norwegian State Academy of Music in Oslo, Norway.

Since 1994, he has also held the position of President of the European International Trumpet Guild and is its International Membership Coordinator.

Bengt Eklund will be one of two international adjudicators at the 1997 National Band Championships in Newcastle from Friday, March 28 to Monday, March 31.

John Kellaway

John Kellaway
Newcastle

John Kellaway was born in Newcastle, Australia. As a conductor John has directed the New Life Singers, Metropolitan Players, Sound Construction Company, Hunter Opera, Newcastle Police Citizens Youth Club Brass Band, Maitland City Brass Band, Sophisticated Swing Jazz Orchestra, Novocastrian Arts Orchestra, University of Newcastle Conservatorium Brass Choir, "I Medici" Chamber Orchestra and the Hunter Symphony Orchestra.

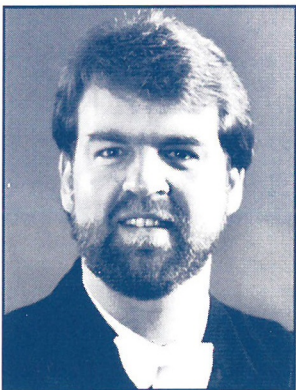

He is an adjudicator and music adviser to the Band Associations of New South Wales and adjudicates in Australian competitions for brass.

He is committed to the promotion and development of trumpet music in Australia. John has conducted workshops and concerts in Australia, New Zealand, Switzerland, England and the United States of America. As a successful applicant for a Newcastle University Conference Fellowship he attended the 1994 International Trumpet Guild Conference in Champaign/Urbana U.S.A. and was invited back to America to perform in the International Brass Festivals of 1995 and 1996 in the United States. In 1994 John formed the first Australian Chapter of the International Trumpet Guild at the University of Newcastle.

John is on the Board of Directors of the International Trumpet Guild and is leading figure in the Organization of the International Trumpet Guild in Australia and the Asian/Pacific Region.

John's current research interests are the collation of the Directory of Brass Music composed by resident Australian composers and early brass performance techniques on Natural Trumpets of the English Baroque tradition. At present he is Lecturer in Trumpet at the University of Newcastle, and lectures on conducting skills at the University of Newcastle. He is considered one of the leading teachers in his field in Australia and is building an international reputation as a trumpet pedagogue and performer. He has been invited to give masterclasses and teach performance skills at the 1997 International Trumpet Guild conference in Goteborg Sweden in August 1997.

Brett Kelly

Brett Kelly
Melbourne

Brett Kelly undertakes a diverse and demanding range of musical activities. He is Principal Trombone of the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra, a leading solo and chamber performer, an outstanding exponent of contemporary music and is increasingly active as a conductor. In this role he is Artistic Director of the highly respected chamber orchestra, "The Academy of Melbourne".

He studied at the Newcastle Branch of the New South Wales State Conservatorium of Music, graduating in 1979 having gained both the Teachers and Performers Diplomas. In 1978 and 1979 he was Principal Trombone in the Australian Youth Orchestra and in 1980 was appointed Principal Trombone of the Elizabethan Sydney Orchestra, resident at the Sydney Opera House. In 1981 he won the N.S.W. State final of the A.B.C. Instrumental and Vocal Competition in the Wind and Brass section and soon after was appointed Principal Trombone of the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra. As times he has performed as soloist with the M.S.O., Sydney Symphony Orchestra, Queensland Symphony Orchestra, Philharmonia of Melbourne and Melbourne Musicians.

Brett has studied conducting with the distinguished Austrian/Romanian conductor Robert Rosen and during July and August 1991 undertook advanced study with a number of prominent conductors and teachers in Europe; firstly at the Vienna Conservatory, then in Switzerland, Salzburg and finally in Czechoslovakia at a course with six prominent conductors including the Chief Conductor of the Czech Philharmonic, Juri Belohlavek. At the course in Switzerland Brett was chosen to conduct the South Bohemian Chamber Philharmonic (Czech) in a public concert which concluded the Mastercourse. During the Czechoslovakian course Brett conducted the Bohuslav Martinu Philharmonic in works ranging from Haydn to Bruckner and Tchaikovsky.

THE BAND ASSOCIATION OF NEW SOUTH WALES

Programme 1997

In 1997 the Band Association of N.S.W. introduce many innovations in their band championships programme. The board of directors are always seeking venues that offer the best performance opportunities within reasonable cost.

- The season will begin in June with the junior band championships. We will again be visiting the Muirfield High School and the event will again be held over two days which will ensure sensible finishing times for both Concert and Brass ensembles. Saturday June 21st and Sunday June 22nd are the two dates for this very important event on our calendar.
- In July the State Solo & Duet Championships will be held in the Masonic Centre, Sydney. Many will remember this venue that was used for the 1996 National Solo Championships. Four performance rooms on the ground floor in the centre of Sydney, will again ensure that the event will offer a smooth running championship. Those teachers and bandmasters with multiple entrants, will find that the complex helps with the problem of trying to keep up with all their charges. Sunday July 27th is the date for this popular event.
- The State Band Championships will be held in a venue being used for the first time for the championships, The Macquarie University Theatre. This theatre has been very successfully used for band concerts for some time and offers good all round facilities in a prestige venue. Both brass and concert bands will be performing over the same weekend. Saturday, September 6th and Sunday, September 7th are the two days of the championships with a full programme on each day.
- The final event for 1997 will again be the Party Championships which will again take place in the excellent facility of the Campbelltown - Camden Band Training Centre. There was a big increase in the number of entrants last year and we look forward again to a large number of quartets and ensembles taking part. Ensemble playing has always been an important ingredient in improving band performance and the experiment of a stand alone event seems to be finding approval. Sunday, November 16th is the date for both brass and concert ensembles.

The Branches, who are affiliates of the Band Association also hold many band, solo and party events during the year which assures a very full programme.

The Board of Directors of the Association would be very pleased to welcome any interstate bands, soloists or ensembles who would like to take part in any of the many events planned in 1997.

You can contact the Association Tuesday to Friday between the hours of 10.00 am to 2.00 pm on (02) 9709 6495 or send a fax on (02) 9709 6387. In an emergency outside these hours contact Bill Belcher on (047) 31 6235.

WELCOMING ALL VISITING BANDS AT THE AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

HUNTER LOSES ADMINISTRATOR

David Kurthi
Administrator

The Hunter Regional Band Association will lose key Administrator - Mr David Kurthi following the Australian National Band Championships to be held over the Easter period.

David has accepted a promotion with the Company he currently works for - Vac Tech, to head their South Australian operations based in Adelaide. As David has stated, "This is a necessary move for me to progress within Vac Tech Group". David has been instrumental in giving the Hunter Regional Band Association a professional image which enabled it to bid in 1992, for the rights to stage the Australian National Band Championships in 1997.

From his early stages of Organising the East Coast of Australia Band Championships which in 1987 had eight competitors and a budget of $1,300.00, to the latest venture of the Australian Championships with sixty five bands and a operational budget of $110,000.00, David has maintained the main focus of running a smooth and organised Association.

David has been a playing member of two Hunter Bands, the Waratah Mayfield Brass Band and the Newcastle Police & Community Brass Band as a percussionist. With the Newcastle Police & Community Youth Club Brass Band David was a driving force for many years in creating one of the Nations finest marching groups. In recent years David has had many successes with the St. Marys District Brass Band of Sydney.

David holds the position of Vice President for the Band Association of New South Wales and Delegate on the National Band Council of Australia. His knowledge and experience will be sadly missed in the Hunter Region and New South Wales.

COAL RIVER SYNOPSIS

Coal River is about the Hunter Valley region of New South Wales. The Hunter River, once known as Coal River flows into the Tasman sea at Newcastle. I begin the piece with "The Fatal Shore". This title, indeed the idea for this opening section of the music, is inspired by Robert Hughes' book. The first chapter, captures in the most exciting manner the impressions and feelings of the convicts on their first sighting of the Australian coast. They are overwhelmed by the sandstone cliffs, the endless beaches, a coastline of stunted, dry, spiky vegetation behind which they espy ranges of impenetrable forests. The convicts find themselves in the purgatory of a wild and daunting prison of unimaginable vastness.

The opening bars catch the mixed and complex feelings of loss, anguish, oppression, on the one hand, and on the other hand, resignation, acceptance, curiosity and wonder. The opening chords and melodic motive form the basis of much of the music that follows. At Allegro Vigoroso, the basses sound the next important theme. A theme of relentless vigour. I imagine the brutal, harsh existence, that was the lot of the convicts in this strange and inhospitable environment. The drum, alerts us to the oppressive militarism of the colonial authorities. At C, bar 39, I introduce, what I call my "maritime" theme. This is an important theme and reappears throughout the piece. It reminds me of the English broadsides. It has the rolling rhythm of the songs of the sea. In this section there are moments of hope, but omnipresent in the background, there is the sense of oppression sounded by the basses and the drum. As the music develops it takes on the character of work song. This evokes the image of convicts labouring incessantly. Digging and carrying coal and lime. Driven by the whip, only a few surviving the cruel suffering under the yoke of the penal authorities.

Life was so harsh in the convict settlement of Newcastle, that many attempted escape. Some succeeded. They wrought havoc among the tribes. Abducting the women, murdering the elders, destroying anyone and anything that got in their way. "The Baying Hounds", inspired by the poem of Mary Gilmore, is about the fugitive. The army relentless in pursuing the escapees was equally relentless in dispersing the tribes. The colonial policy was to release the land for settlement. The Kooris suffered what amounts to genocide at the hands of the convicts, the army, and the settlers. The idea of this music is pursuit, flight, anger, fear. The music finds no resolution. In this new form the opening chords of "The Fatal Shore" are sounded again. We do not forget the oppression and cruelty of our past. We simply and violently hand it on.

The British lay claim to this vast continent and all its resources. To settle and develop these resources a policy of migration was put in place. "Come You Not From Newcastle?", The miners came, and with them their families, and many settlers, to many regions, from all parts of the British Isles and beyond. The Hunter Valley was rapidly occupied. In a short time, the main quest was coal. Most of the land was already taken. Agriculture, sheep, wine, general trade, stepped back, making way for the black gold. Endless wealth and power, dormant beneath the ground. There for the taking. I discover a traditional folksong from Newcastle-on-Tyne. I throw it into the Valley. There is much hustle and bustle, and surfacing, I detect a humourous note.

The mines, and the miners, are central to the development of Newcastle. Mining is dangerous. There are many deaths and injuries. Some of the mines extend far out, under the sea. It is possible to hear the ships pass over as they enter harbour. "Beneath Tidal Water" a book by Ed Tonks inspired this section.

Imagine a lone bugler at the entrance of every mine. The mines are like tombs. The bugles sound across the valley, overlapping, intermingling, calling for the lost workers and mourning for their wives. Out of this emerges an expression of anger and betrayal. Forsaken by both man and God. Crimond, the twenty-third psalm, is bitter and harsh. The music rises within fiercely contained anger. Such anger and grief is not sustainable. These feelings fall away, and are transformed into acceptance and resignation.

On the backs of the miners we career into the modern world. "Shaping The Hunter" begins with the base line from "The Fatal Shore". It is developed as a fugue. There are many branches, many streams. We pursue our dreams and ambitions, gathering the resources we find on the way. "The Baying Hounds" call us yet again. We fly into the embrace of heavy industry and ensuing wealth. The music pounds on with increasing tension. With a deeply buried sense of preordination, the mythical, almost forgotten giant kangaroo awakens and bounds along the fault line. The town collapses like a house of cards. The earthquake, is both reality and metaphor. Archetypal memories, of bitter struggle easily forgotten, are rekindled.

The "Finale" is a new beginning. We build on what we have. The brutality and the suffering from the past is not forgotten. It takes new form. The trombone is the messenger of resolve, and like the songs of the Songmen, the stories of the past are retold and lead us slowly, with dignity and joyousness into a hopeful future. The carillon, rings out across the valley, a greeting for the new millennium.

Barry McKimm, July 1996.

■ NEWCASTLE MORNING HERALD & MINERS ADVOCATE – 11 APRIL, 1947

WARATAH TO ENTER CONTEST

Waratah and Mayfield District Band decided to enter in the contest to be held in Newcastle during the 150th Anniversary celebrations.

An appeal will be made for the instrument and uniform fund. Donations may be sent to the Secretary (Mr. F. Wright), 38 Greaves Street, Mayfield.

Greater Newcastle Council will be asked to arrange for part of the proceeds from dances in the City Hall to be shared among local bands.

Permission will be sought to give one or more programmes in parks controlled by the council. The council will be told that Dangar Park, Mayfield, would be suitable for night performances if lighting facilities were provided.

The invitation of Lysaght's Orb Club to play at the opening match at Mayfield Park tomorrow was accepted.

An afternoon programme will be given at Tighe's Hill Methodist Church on Sunday. The programme will be repeated at Newcastle Beach at 8.15 pm.

At the weekend the band will deal with an invitation to go to Bulahdelah on Anzac Day. Requests from R.S.L. branches will be considered on Tuesday night.

Vacancies exist for baritone and bass players.

■ NEWCASTLE MORNING HERALD & MINERS ADVOCATE – 20 SEPTEMBER, 1947

NATIONAL A GRADE BAND CONTEST OPEN

Nine Australian and New Zealand bands competed in the first section of the Australasian A grade championships at Newcastle Showground last night.

Results will not be announced until the second section – the "own choice" – takes place tonight.

Only 1125 attended the contest. Some people, unaware until the programme began that each band would play the same test selection, left early.

Mrs. I. Heaton, of James Street, Hamilton, who was among those who left before 9 o'clock, said: "We didn't know it was going to be the same thing over and over. We were very disappointed, although the bands play well."

Suspected of "Crashing"

A number of bandsmen had difficulty in getting into the ground. Although they had special tickets, a gatekeeper thought they were trying to crash in because they were not in uniform. They changed on the ground.

The test selection was a symphonic legend, "Princess Nada", arranged by Dennis Wright. rendition times ranged from 11min. to 12min. 10sec.

Although no comment on general standard will be made by the judges until tonight, popular opinion was that performances were of exceptionally high quality.

The judges, each in a separate tent behind the dais on which the bands played, were Messrs, H. Shugg, J. J. Kelly and J. Compton.

The nine bands, in order of draw, were: Barrier Industrial Unions, N.S.W. Road Transport and Tramway, Melbourne Metropolitan Fire Brigades, Wellington Waterside Workers, Newcastle Ex-Servicemen's and City, Northern Suburbs, N.S.W. Railways Institute, Sydney St. John Ambulance Brigade, and Bathurst District.

Officials expect large crowds at the sessions this afternoon, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and night.

This afternoon, the C grade "own choice" and B grade quickstep contests will be decided. The C grade quickstep and A grade quickstep will be held tomorrow afternoon, and B grade "own choice" tomorrow night.

Instrumental competitions will be held at the City Hall and Caldwell House this morning.

Additional bands will arrive from Sydney and Katoomba today.
